❖ Update on Needs

➤ Vanesa (3:43)

- Would like to share some experiences from community members at free testing sites
 - A frequent experience is that for those with construction related jobs, they are required to get testing if they wish to go back to work

Long Branch Partners (LBP) Meeting Minutes (6/2)

- Did not have a good experience herself. Her husband, who works for a construction company went to get a test from a site at six flags in partnership with LabCorp; the testing site had the wrong phone number which prevented them [testing site] from getting in contact with her husband; they were told to open an account with LabCorp received some false information which made the process difficult
 - Recommends that if people can afford the $120 fee to receive a test, they should because it will save time and will have a better chance of avoiding complications
- Sara (3:50)
- Impact's system for processing individuals with COVID-19 symptoms:
 - Individuals' name, address, and symptoms are entered
 - Information is sent to DHHS
 - Individual or family is then contacted to set up an appointment for "Go Team" to go to the home and complete testing
 - Nurse is then supposed to call family member to give results verbally
 - Individual or family will later receive their results in the mail
 - The $120 fee for testing may be a lot for some people right now, but there are other options including calling 311 and Impact
- Anthea (3:54)
- Wondering how many people are suffering from job loss, or being prevented from returning to work because they are waiting for their test results
 - Sara
 - Everyone IMPACT tests have at least one symptom related to COVID-19
 - IMPACT does not conduct testing unless the person(s) are showing symptoms
 - Maureen
 - Is also hearing that employers are requesting a negative test to be produced before allowing employees to return to work
 - TESS Center is now able to refer people to get a test at home if they are not able to leave their home
 - ◆ TESS will ask for information including address, telephone number, and language needed in order to schedule an appointment
 - CVS and a few other places are able to complete testing
- Bruce (3:59)
- Food distribution is continuing

➤ Reemberto (4:15)

- Created a survey tool that can be distributed to volunteers
- Survey asks volunteer to identify how they can contribute, where they can contribute, and when they can contribute
- Following gas explosion in 2016, it was discovered that there was a desire among community members to help the community
- Reemberto, Bruce, and Sara modified this form, that was created in response to the desire to volunteer, so that it became relevant to the COVID-19 outbreak

▪ Sara (4:20)

- Some of the volunteers that helped in 2016 have continued to volunteer and have developed close ties to community organizations

▪ Anthea

- Is there a database where volunteer names are kept?
- How can we call on these volunteers?

▪ Reemberto

- When people complete the survey, their answers automatically are entered into a spreadsheet that will be viewable by Long Branch Partners

▪ Anthea

- If volunteers are needed this weekend, could they be called and asked to volunteer?

▪ Reemberto

- ◆ Yes
- ◆ This tool is not replacing anything, it is simply a new tool that is available to connect people
- Maureen (4:28)
 - ◆ Would like to know who is tracking this tool?
 - ◆ Is it a Long Branch Partners tool?
 - ◆ Would like to be able to thank volunteers for their efforts
- Bruce
 - ◆ Potentially when an organization uses the list, they could report back how useful the tool had been for them
 - ◆ We could also have a column on the spreadsheet that describes who participated in what
- John (4:30)
 - ◆ Could have a column on the spreadsheet that asks “How did the volunteer help your organization” to simplify the tracking of what volunteers are doing, specifically.
